Hi Jason Drangel

Dear Sir

I am surprised to find that our Alipay is frozen. My English is not good, I don't understand the intend of your email here. We were advised that you need to follow the Hague Service Convention if you want to send us judicial documents. It is forbidden to force default judgment without confirmation that the document is received and hearing my reply. And we have reported to the Chinese Ministry of Justice and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs that they will help us deal with the same experience of this incident.

Thanks

TIna

Notice of Lawsuit and Order to Show Cause – Defendant Anthnoy's International Trade - Civil Case No. 17-cv-7969 (RWS); WowWee Group Limited, WowWee Canada, Inc., and WowWee USA, Inc. v. Aaiwa Electronic Technology Co., Ltd., et al.

Dear Sir/Madam:

We apologize for our infringement! We don't know about the infringement, because there are a lot of sellers upload this product on Aliexpress, so we also released this product! We sold a total of 17 orders, but we didn't send the infringing order because we knew it was infringement. We can provide information on all 17 orders, including logistics information. We also timely removed the infringing products! Will contact the buyers and tell them to cancel the orders and return their money! We apologize again for our infringement. I can't really attend the hearing, I'm just a regular little seller, I don't have enough money to get a U.S. visa, I don't have enough cash to buy a plane ticket or hire a lawyer! I need to take care of my elderly parents and children, I am the pillar of my family. Hope you can understand! Not all sellers know about infringement, and if they can really understand, maybe they won't do it! Sincere reply... Only hope can be forgiven.

(First, we do not use your trademark WowWee, second, Fingerlings ownership is a company in mainland China that we can use it. Third, our products is not the same appearance with yours, not the same packaging. So it is not infringing products)
